EDITORIAL HIGH SCHOOL SITE, ETC.

Great credit is due to the chairman and members of the North Saanich Consolidated School Board for the manner in which they handled the negotiations with the Department of National Defence for the taking over of the high school — same being made untenable by certain construction nearby on the airport.

In the hustle and bustle of war everything seemed to crop up at once. Officials at Ottawa sent a representative here and the board was more or less put on the spot by being offered $33,000 for the property and informed that an answer of yes or no was expected in a few hours. The board did some thinking and decided not to give a snap decision. Federal Members were consulted and after many days of anxiety in which the wires to Ottawa were kept hot an offer of $40,000 was made (approximately the replacement value) and the deal closed.

The new site for the high school is to be decided by the ratepayers, we understand. In this connection the Review believes, in the interests of all concerned, that same should not be chosen immediately. Owing to the fall of Singapore the defence base here may be greatly enlarged. There is to be a secret session of Parliament at Ottawa soon to consider defence matters on the Pacific. It may be some time before we can discern the direction of expansion here, if any. It would not seem wise to choose a site now, start construction and then discover that the building is poorly situated in relation to runways, anti-aircraft batteries, etc.

We understand it is the intention of the board to recommend to the ratepayers the construction of an elementary school in the south end of North Saanich for the many children in that district, which we think an excellent idea. By having such a school in addition to elementary schools already established in Deep Cove and Sidney this would eliminate the present expense of transportation as the children, in most cases, would be fairly close to their schools.

Due to the serious turn of events in the Pacific the Review believes Ottawa should immediately construct air raid shelters for the children at Deep Cove and Sidney Schools. The area of North Saanich is so small that no part of same would likely be missed in case of an attack. The new elementary school in the south should also have air raid shelters when built, as well as the new high school, if built in the near future, no matter where located in North Saanich.

ROYAL OAK INSTITUTE HAS MANY PLANS

ROYAL OAK, Feb. 18. — The Royal Oak Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the Community Hall on Feb. 12th with 18 members and two visitors present. Miss K. Oldfield presided and the "Aims and Objects" were read by Mrs. A. V. Corker. Many letters were received by the secretary endorsing the resolution that the beaches and parks be cleaned up and have police supervision at night. An old-time dance will be held in the hall on March 7th, under the auspices of the institute, and plans are being made for a daffodil tea to be held in March, the date to be announced later. A $5 donation was voted for the Cocon Fund at the Royal Oak School where children who carry their lunch may have a cup of cocon for a small sum. A donation of $2 was voted to the Salvation Army for Grace Hospital and $2 to the Tubercular Veterans' Association. Each member paid the sum of 10c and the whole amount has been forwarded to the Mobile Kitchen Fund. The adopted boy at the Solmar was also remembered on St. Valentine's Day. Mrs. A. V. Corker and Mrs. M. Rankin were appointed as delegates to the Local Council of Women, and the institute will request the help of local council in trying to get reduced fares for children who use buses to go to Patricia Bay Station. A. V. Corker addressed the meeting and explained the problems of the A.R.P. wardens and members were asked to have in readiness in event of air raids. A tea will be held on Feb. 24th in the hall, when Mrs. Alfred Wall, M.D.F., will be the guest speaker, talking for her theme "The American Partnership of Home, Farm, College and State." Arrangements are being made by the home economics committee, with Mrs. C. Hayward as convener, and friends and members are asked to each bring a can of soup to help build

Water Company Is Making Progress

In keeping with the building up of Sidney the Sidney Water & Power Co. Ltd. keeps on making improvements and extensions to its equipment and network of pipelines.

Just prior to the new year a new electric pump was installed at the pumping station.

Since the beginning of 1942 new pipes have been laid on Harbour Road, Bench Drive, Amelia Avenue, 700 feet on Fourth Street and 200 feet on Third Street.

Besides a large outlay for the new pump and pipe hundreds of dollars have been paid out in wages.

We understand that the local water company plans to continue replacement of old pipelines as finances will permit. It is the aim of the management to give the best possible service to the community.

BRIDGE PARTY NETS OVER $60 FOR RED CROSS

The bridge party to raise funds for the Red Cross proved a great success with 25 tables taking part at the North Saanich Service Club Hall.

The winners for the evening were Mrs. F. J. Baker and Bernard Osbaldeston, first; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sparling, second; Mrs. E. Ibbes Jones and Mrs. Langdale being awarded consolations.

Many people who were unable to be present kindly sent the money equivalent to a table and the thanks of the committee go out to these for their support.

The committee also was very grateful for the support accorded the North Saanich effort from the people of South Saanich who made up a handsome number of tables.

Home cooking proved a great source of revenue and nothing was left to auction by the end of the evening.

A sum in excess of $60 clear was available for the Red Cross funds and it is worthy of note that owing to the generosity of members all prizes were donated and total expenses only amounted to a little over $4.

This was the first of a series of entertainments to be put on during the next few months and the support that was in evidence for this first effort augurs well for the future.

CADET CORPS BALL A SUCCESS

In a setting suggesting the Valentine Victory Motif and to the rhythm of Roy Chapman's Orchestra nearly 300 dancers gathered at the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, last Friday to enjoy the hospitality of the North Saanich High School Cadet Corps at its annual ball.

The evening was interspersed with novelties of various kinds. There were balloon dances, Valentine dances, and serpentine dances. Each hour a drawing was made for a War Savings Certificate. Cadets Lines and Forbes saw to it that just the right shade of light from their color wheel played on the dancers at just the right time.

The dance netted 10 additional uniforms. The boys wish to thank the decoration committee, Miss M. Brown convener; the refreshment committee, Miss K. Baker convener; tickets, convener, A. E. Voguee, and N. E. West, general convener, for the time and effort devoted by everyone in helping to make the dance a success.

GANGES I.O.D.E. ACCOMPLISHED MANY THINGS

GANGES, Feb. 18. — In the annual report of the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the year 1941, read at a recent meeting by the secretary, Mrs. V. C. Best, it was stated that 12 monthly meetings, one special general meeting, and five executive meetings had been held.

Fifteen new members had been welcomed, bringing the total roll up to 62.

In March the chapter was honored by a visit from the Provincial president, Mrs. Stead, who addressed a special general meeting at Harbour House.

An outstanding achievement was the United War Services Drive, for which a tag day was arranged in April, which the Ganges Chapter, with very little outside help, undertook and collected over $184.

The garden fete held at Harbour House in July for the Spitfire fund was another unqualified success, realizing over $180.

The highlight of the year's events was the semi-annual meeting, held for the first time at Ganges, when inspirational addresses and reports were heard at both the evening and morning sessions at the Mahon Hall, and contacts made with visiting officers and delegates who will long be remembered.

One very successful undertaking during the summer months was the home cooking stall, held every Saturday at Ganges Wharf by Mrs. O'Callaghan and Mrs. Jack Abbott, which brought in over $174 to the war fund.

Fifty-eight wonderful Siwash sweaters, made from local raw wool, carded, washed and knitted by Mrs. Baker and her helpers, have been sent to men in the navy and merchant marine.

Other activities have included a garden day, a charade party, a sale of superfluous and home cooking, and numerous individual efforts in members' own homes, by which considerable sums have been raised.

The chapter has also had an aluminum drive and a collection of old wool for manufacturing into new blankets, besides collections of tin foil, old spectacles and books.

The regular peace time work has included a picture and prizes given in the local school, books for the newly adopted school at Smithers, medical supplies for a war veteran and Christmas hampers for local families in need.

The I.O.D.E. Room in The Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital has been renovated and new furnishings provided.

The war work convener was joined during the year by a sub-convener who undertook weekly sewing meetings to make garments and comforts for bombed-out people in Great Britain.

Branch of the Canadian Legion, R.E.S.L., and will welcome any ladies who can attend sewing meetings at her home on Monday and Friday each week from 11 in the morning till 5 in the afternoon. At the present time those capable of cutting out garments are especially needed to help this good work along.

Among the Ferry Service personnel are Americans, Canadians and Britons, while diplomatic mail, vital war freight and important passengers are carried. . . . This, one of the first pictures of the service to be released, shows the Chief Engineer (holding record sheet) conferring with an inspector while the ground crew services a Lockheed Hudson aircraft.

"Pancake" Tea Proves Popular Event

The hall fronting Beacon Ave. in the Stacey Building was very nicely arranged and made an ideal tea room when the ladies of St. Andrew's Guild entertained on Tuesday afternoon at a "Pancake" tea in aid of guild funds.

This pancake tea made a very appropriate entertainment for the entrance into the lenten period. Tea tables were very nicely arranged with spring flowers, crocuses and primroses, and the hall artistically decorated with plum blossom.

An apron stall was open for business as a side line of the tea and many aprons of different styles and designs were on display.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE

Sir:—The public suggestion we use the Sidney School site is a good one. There has been no meeting regarding the new school, yet several people have told me where it is to be built.

Let us have the various sites mentioned in the Review at once. Perhaps then we can select better than last time. In any case there need be no secret soliciting of support for any one site. I don't want to go on record as having said Sidney is the best site — stand anywhere in Sidney and look around. If we are looking for economy it is a logical suggestion. If not, let someone get up and say so.

I don't think we should build a school now. A couple of days ago I went past the Sidney School about noon. There appeared to be close to 100 boys playing around, who were able to do as much work as I, which is plenty if the work seems worth while. But they must continue going to school. Let's see how to keep the present system going: which is somebody else doing the work, we — who are educated to that end — getting the pay.

If there is an air raid alarm, don't telephone unless absolutely necessary. Leave the telephone system free to handle urgent calls by the authorities. Your safety may depend on this.

The recent blackout on the coast gave us a significant warning of how the public can quickly overload the telephone system, interfering with vital calls.

Resist the impulse to telephone about unusual sights or sounds during the present critical days.

Some Notes From 75 Years Ago

Mr. Macfie writes:
In the "Times" of June 25th, 1860, the argument in favor of Burrard Inlet, near New Westminster, as a naval depot, is effectually exploded by the letter of a correspondent:

"If all that is required for a naval station be so much water for so many ships to float and anchor on, and so many acres of land for docks in a wilderness, these essentials are obtainable in Burrard Inlet. . . . But as the naval station placed in that locality involves the navigation of a portion of the Straits of Fuca, of the whole of Canal de Haro (under the guns of the American batteries if San Juan be given up) together with the crossing of the Gulf of Georgia, often a tempestuous sea, as well as the other waters which intervene between Burrard Inlet and Esquimalt and the ocean, all of which navigation would be in addition to a voyage long enough already, and which would be avoided by leaving the squadron to rendezvous at Esquimalt where the ships now lie, most competent judges prefer Esquimalt for the headquarters of the squadron. Esquimalt is near the ocean, easily accessible by day and night, now that a lighthouse is placed at its entrance. . . . Besides these conveniences, it possesses great facilities for fortifications over every other harbor in the Pacific Ocean. It could be made impregnable at less cost than any other harbor in these seas could be rendered partially secure; and it is well situated for supplying ships to defend the entrance into the Straits of Fuca — a measure to be accomplished of which 'Port San Juan,' situated on Vancouver Island, near the entrance, possesses important facilities in having a harbor three miles long, and capable of anchoring a fleet in safety. From this port one or two ships could blockade the entrance and make Fuca Straits a British lake, while Esquimalt is close at hand to afford supplies and all necessary assistance. . . . At Victoria, the men-of-war get all they want . . . Vancouver Island will be the point of attack, if an attack is made on one of these colonies by any hostile powers, as it must be secured to make the continent tenable if taken. So that if Burrard Inlet were made the naval station, it would involve this anomaly — that while the headquarters were over there, the ships would always be stationed here. The naval station must be at Esquimalt."

Prepared for Air Attack

At least one Victoria merchant is leaving nothing to chance in the event of sudden action on the part of the enemy. The owner of General Warehouse Limited, with stores at 1110 Government Street and 1420 Douglas Street, has taken heed of the experiences of merchants in bombed centres of the Old Country and followed, somewhat the precautions taken by them in preparing for the eventualities of enemy attack. Incendiary bombs or fire will be given little opportunity to gain any appreciable headway in these establishments.

Shovels and buckets with the initials A.R.P. prominently painted on them have been placed in easily accessible positions on the pillars of the stores, while on both floors are handy caches of light cotton sandbags. These bags have been filled with fine white sand and in the event of a fire could be quickly rushed to the point of conflagration. Upon being dropped on the blaze the thin cotton bags would break apart and allow the fine sand to spread and smother the flame. Suitably inscribed upon the bags are the words: "Dry Sand for A.R.P. Warden" accompanied by the line that typifies the spirit of the day "There'll Always Be An England."

The accompanying photos show the bags and shovels as well as the picture of Capt. W. Ellis, chief civilian protection officer. Captain Ellis has heartily endorsed the preparations made in these stores.

A LETTER FROM NORTH PENDER

(Unaccountably passed by the Censor)
North Pender Island, B.C.,
Feb. 12th, 1942.

Dearest Sally:—
I'm afraid it's a dog's age since I last wrote you but I simply must drop you a line to tell you about a swell show I saw here Wednesday evening.

In this day and age, Sally, old pet, it's not often you get anything that can be called inexpensive and so, when I realized that I was getting about a couple of hours of a show and refreshments and, as it turned out later, a dance, all for two bits, I was beginning to wonder whether the Red Cross Branch which put on the affair was losing compression or whether they were just proving that charity DOES begin at home. Either way the populace took full advantage of the situation and rolled up in droves. There must've been a regular blitzkrieg of shin-plasters at the door.

First off there was a community sing-song and the community, urged to a total (vocal) effort by an excellent fellow whose name, I think, was Rodwell, were soon in full voice. We gave out hand-somely with some of the old favorites and then, when I was just about gasping for breath, up pops the chairman and announces a one-act play called "His Majesty Sleeps."

Kiddo, if I ever glimpsed anything slick, this play was it! I just heard that, for every minute of playing, five hours were needed for preparation and, believe you me, that figuring couldn't've been far out. The picture took what little breath I had left from community singing completely away.

And then there was the "Princess." Sally, my girl, that lass could surely act and she had what it takes to knock 'em in the nides and set hearts all of a flutter for miles around! At one time in the play, the "King" — who turned out to be not quite the utter heel he seemed at first — made that poor Princess cry and cry. Boy, I'm telling you, I could've gone backstage and taken him apart, slow and gruesome. But, as I say, the play made things turn out okay and the two of them finished up — well, you know as well as I do how those things finish up, on the stage, anyhow.

There was a Prime Minister, too, and — what do you think? — he didn't have an umbrella OR a cigar. But he was mighty convincing. So, for that, were the "Ambassador" and the Princess' maid, "Nora." The Ladies of the Court were awfully cute, too, but they didn't have anything to say. Well, I could keep on about that play and that Princess all day but here I am with a sink full of dishes and the week's wash not as much as looked at so I guess I'll have to lay off pronto.

ILSLEY EXPLAINS DETAILS OF LOAN

Canada's second $600,000,000 Victory Loan is being offered in three maturities, Finance Minister Ilesley has announced.

The active selling campaign commenced Monday, Feb. 16th, and will continue till March 7th.

Securities are as follows:

A 2½ year 1½ percent issue maturing Sept. 1st, 1944; a 6-year issue maturing March 1st, 1948, bearing a coupon of 2½ percent, and a 12-year issue, maturing March 1st, 1954, bearing interest at 3 percent.

The long-term issue will be payable at maturity at 101 percent, and will be callable at 101 percent during or after 1952.

The yield on this 3 percent issue if held to maturity will be 3.07 percent.

All of the issue is being sold at par.

The finance minister, in his statement, said there were two Dominion of Canada bond issues maturing in May and June, 1942, an issue of $95,500,000 of 1½ percent bonds maturing May 15th, and another issue of $60,000,000 2 percent bonds maturing on June 1st.

"These bonds will be accepted in exchange for bonds of the second Victory Loan in any of the three maturities," his statement said. "The maturing bonds are largely held by life insurance companies, trust companies, banks and financial institutions."

The long-term bonds are being offered in denominations ranging from $50 up to $25,000.

BANKS, EMPLOYERS CO-OPERATE

They bear interest as from March 1st. They are available either for immediate payment in full or on the instalment plan so that Canadians may pledge their credit or purchase out of earnings of future income.

The instalments run as follows:

On application, 10 percent; April 15th, 15 percent; May 15th, 15 percent; June 15th, 20 percent; July 15th, 20 percent; August 15th, 20 percent, plus accrued interest.

For those who wish to buy bonds by pledging their credit, arrangements have been made for banks to provide accommodation for a period of six months at the coupon rate.

Where groups of employees of any concern undertake to purchase bonds as a group, special arrangements have been made with the banks to finance such subscriptions over a longer period ending as late as October 1st.

DANGER ACCENTUATED

This second Victory War Loan was announced Dec. 9th by the finance minister when he said the war in the Pacific had increased the Dominion's financial requirements.

The three previous loans of this war were: January, 1940, $200,000,000 loan subscribed to the extent of $321,276,850 cash.

September, 1940 — $300,000,000 loan subscribed to the extent of $324,248,300 cash.

June, 1941 (first Victory Loan) — $600,000,000 loan subscribed to the extent of $710,958,950 cash.

Questions And Answers About Victory Bonds

What is a Victory Bond?

It is a government document which promises to repay to the purchaser at a given date the principal invested with half-yearly interest meanwhile.

How is the interest paid?

Coupons are attached to the bond, dated six months apart. You clip off a coupon on the due date and cash it at the bank or deposit it to your account. Or, if you buy a registered bond, your interest will reach you from Ottawa each half-year by cheque.

What is the security behind the bond?

All the wealth of Canada and its people is the security. It is a direct and binding government obligation — the same guarantee that makes a dollar bill worth one dollar.

Who can buy Victory Bonds?

Any person with $50 or more. Bonds are available in amounts of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and upward.

Can a bond be sold before maturity?

Yes. A bond-holder can sell his bond at any time through a bank or an investment dealer or broker. Or he can borrow on it at a bank.

Why are Victory Bonds being sold?

Because a large amount of money is needed by the government to pay for war materials — ships, guns, 'planes, tanks, rifles, clothing and food for our sailors, soldiers and airmen who are fighting at home and abroad.

Must a bond be bought for cash?

No. They can be purchased on the instalment plan. You pay the bank a deposit each month and the bond is delivered to you on the final payment. Then you draw interest regularly and, on the maturity date, your entire principal comes back to you.

How does one buy a bond?

If a salesman does not contact you within reasonable time after the campaign has opened, contact your nearest Victory Loan headquarters.

I used to think that store keepers made lots and lots of dough. Once it was a dandy game. But that was long ago.

Things today are not the same. You ain't the Boss no more. The law says when you'll open up. And when you'll close the door.

The law says this, the law says that.

The laws they make are funny. They make you think you are the boss.

And let you count the money. You cannot give your clerks a raise.

They treat it just like theft. They tell you what you'll pay yourself.

And then they grab what's left. I think I'll try for Parliament. And sit and knit and squawk. You do not have to think at all. As long as you can talk.
